

DUCE'S PARLIAMENT GATHERS TODAY FOR A SPECIAL SESSION

May Act on Next Step of the Rome-Berlin Axis Against Encirclement

TO GIVE CROWN TO KING

Action Likely To Be Taken Authorizing King Victor To Be King of Albania

ROME, Apr. 15.—(INS).—Members of Premier Mussolini's parliament gathered in Rome today for a special session from which may grow the next step of the Rome-Berlin axis against Anglo-French "encirclement."

One of the first acts of the parliament, it was believed, will be to enact a law authorizing King-Emperor Victor Emmanuel to be crowned King of Albania. The Chamber of Fasces will meet first and then the Senate.

At the Chamber meeting, which will be held at three p. m. (nine a. m. EST), Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano will deliver a speech on foreign affairs. In it he is expected to explain the Italian occupation of Albania.

Importance attached to Count Ciano's speech was indicated by the fact it will be broadcast by radio throughout the nation.

Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, German Air Minister, who arrived here last yesterday for an official visit and important conversations on Italo-German collaboration in the air, will be present at both the Chamber and Senate meetings.

His presence is regarded as serving notice of Germany's approval of Italian occupation of Albania.

LONDON, Apr. 15.—(INS).—The British government pressed forward today with an intensive effort to draw Soviet Russia into the anti-aggression bloc which Great Britain and France are forming to checkmate the Rome-Berlin axis.

International News Service learned on reliable authority that Great Britain is now seeking a formidable Anglo-Russian defensive military alliance and mutual assistance pact.

Under this proposed London-Moscow agreement, it was revealed, the air fleets of Great Britain, France and Soviet Russia would co-operate against aggressors.

Under such a system, if it should be put into effect, Germany would be forced to meet aerial opposition from both east and west in the event the Reich was deemed to have undertaken further aggression.

British authorities expressed hope that inclusion of Soviet Russia in the Anglo-French "peace chain" would spur toward completion the European front which Germany and Italy regard as an attempt to "encircle" the totalitarian nations.

The British and French on Thursday took a long step in forming the anti-aggression security system when they announced military guarantees of the independence of Greece and Rumania.

LEGION CALLS ATTENTION TO THE TRAINING CAMPS

Makes Public Complete Information About Citizens Military Training Camp

GIVES FULL DETAILS

The American Legion in its National program of Preparedness and Americanism again calls attention to the importance of the Citizens Military Training Camp in its relationship to our preparation for National Defense in time of war, and more especially at this time because of the persistent agitation against Americanism in this country and the belligerent attitude of certain men controlling the destinies of foreign nations.

H. Wesley Spencer, of the Robert W. Bracken Post, furnishes the following information concerning the camps:

The object of these Training Camps is to bring together annually, for a month's training, the best representative young American Citizens from all sections of the nation; to give them the basic of military instruction and that physical and moral development that will fit them to become influential leaders in their respective communities in times of peace and leaders for National Defense in time of war; to inculcate a stronger patriotism and a wholesome respect for discipline and obedience to constituted authority; above all, to teach the young men of this generation their serious duties, responsibilities and obligation to home and country.

These Training Camps have the approval and commendation of our greatest National Leaders, living and dead. President Theodore Roosevelt wisely inaugurated the idea; President Wilson leaned upon them anxiously during the war and fostered their continuance after peace had come; they have been advocated and encouraged by all subsequent presidents. Many distinguished citizens highly commend the camps for the exceptional opportunity that is offered to the youths of the country.

There is work to be done in these Camps—drills, marches, field maneuvers, organized athletics, schools, and indoor instruction. We do not advertise them as a vacation—for that implies idleness, and such an impression would be misleading to the public.

But, in their schedules of training, everyone fares alike, and has the same duties to perform—the President's son and the Farmer's son, the Governor's son and the Laborer's son, the General's son and the Miner's son, the Millionaire's son and the working Widow's helpful son—all share alike the work and play, standing shoulder to shoulder in the ranks, wearing the same uniforms, eating the same food, sleeping side-by-side in the barracks or tents, and forming the ties of mutual comradeship which will last through a lifetime.

Each graduate of a CMTC becomes in a sense a living standard of physical fitness for his comrades, and the gospel of health is carried to every village, town and city with obvious and significant advantages not merely to the present, but also to the next generation.

Moral character is another definite contribution of the Citizen's Camps. Daily discipline has its outcome in prompt response to orders, habits of obedience to recognized authority, secured without lessening individual initiative or responsibility. Teamwork on the drill field is matched by teamwork in athletic sports and games and by social give-and-take in recreation hours. Many a shy lad who never seemed to fit in with his fellows at home has discovered at camp for the first time the joys of comradeship through participation in the varied activities of the training period. On the other hand, many an arrogant and self-assertive youth has learned here his first effective lesson in mutual

NINE PLEAD GUILTY TO CHISELING ON RELIEF

Six Men and Three Women Came From Various Sections In Bucks County

SOME FROM BRISTOL

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 15.—The names of the six men and three women who pleaded guilty yesterday to obtaining money under false pretenses were withheld today because in many cases it would cause them to lose their present employment forcing them back on relief.

The charges grew out of being "relief chiselers" and the defendants were released under bond to make restitution, after being given a hearing before Justice of Peace W. Carlile Hobensack.

The men, who live in Washington Crossing, near New Hope, Richlandtown, Hulmeville, Bristol and Warminster, and the women, who live in Jamison, Bristol and Morrisville, according to testimony from authorities from the Department of Public Assistance, received relief when they had other sources of income.

"In some cases it was just a matter of misunderstanding," said Justice of the Peace Hobensack, "and the men and women agreed to pay back the money which they received from the Department of Public Assistance."

Mrs. Sarah Margaret Frank, of Morrisville, was held for court because she and the Department of Public Assistance officials could reach no agreement concerning the amount of money involved.

Justice of the Peace Hobensack, after hearing nine defendants, permitted them to refund the money to the Commonwealth and released them under bond.

Prosecutors from the Department of Public Assistance explained that the action of "relief chiselers" has given many people the attitude that all people who are receiving relief are "chiselers," and deplored the condition.

The amounts ranged from $25 to $100, some of them growing out of misunderstandings relative to W. P. A. employment.

* With such problems solved as stable stalls for horses in towns which now are far more familiar with automobiles, and spare wheels for the 160-year-old coach, "George Washington" and his retinue are fully prepared to set forth tomorrow on their re-enactment of the historical inaugural journey from Mount Vernon to New York.

The New York World's Fair 1939, according to Grover A. Whalen, president of the Fair Corporation, today.

The group is scheduled to arrive in Bristol Friday.

Only one major change has been made in the program originally announced to bring the historic coach and its occupants to New York on Sunday, April 23. The party, according to the new arrangement will remain in Elizabeth, N. J., over Sunday night and on Monday morning the barge built after the lines of the one used 150 years earlier, will carry Washington, Colonel David Humphreys, his aide de camp, and Charles Thomson, Secretary of Congress, to the Battery.

While sirens scream a welcome far noisier than the one when the real Washington set foot in New York, with guns booming and bands playing, a parade will start up Broadway which will provide one more occasion for New Yorkers to use up tons of ticker tape in a paper shower that promises to rival some of the wildest receptions ever accorded to returning heroes. A reception will follow at the City Hall.

The three occupants of the coach are members of patriotic societies tracing ancestry back to Revolutionary days. These gentlemen amateurs are:

Roosevelt Asks Both Hitler and Duce for Peace

By George Durno
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Apr. 15.—In his boldest stroke for world peace, President Roosevelt today appealed directly to Chancellor Hitler of Germany and Premier Mussolini of Italy for a long term guarantee against war in Europe.

The President suggested that a world conference be held to solve the problems of Europe, with the United States to participate partially.

In his dramatic move, Mr. Roosevelt called upon the two dictators to give the peace guarantees for a period of from ten to twenty-five years that they would attack nor invade no nation. The American chief executive put this direct question to the German and Italian dictators:

"Are you willing to give assurances that your armed forces will not attack or invade the territory or possessions of the following independent nations?" The message then listed every nation in Europe.

Should such assurances be forthcoming, President Roosevelt suggested it would be possible to summon a world arms conference—in which the United States would participate—and an international trade conference.

The President warned the dictators that "it seems inevitable that much of the world must become involved in common ruin," if the threat of arms continues.

BRISTOL SCHOOLS LEAD IN ENROLLMENT NUMBERS

Hold First Place In Bucks County With A Total of 1,973 Pupils Listed

MORE BOYS THAN GIRLS

Bristol public schools, with the largest enrollment of pupils in Bucks County, list 1,973 pupils, with the number divided thus: 932 girls, 1041 boys.

This total of students is divided into 1,398 in the grades one to eight, and 575 in the high school. The girls in the grades number 636, and the boys 762; while in the high school there are 296 girls and 279 boys.

Sixty-six teachers and a superintendent care for this number of pupils in Bristol borough's public schools.

The five modernized-equipped buildings now in use, including the large high school, the Wood, Bath, Jefferson and Washington street schools, are a far cry from the year 1834 when the first school board was organized, and the time of the erection of the first school building here in 1837.

In December, 1837, when the first school opened on Wood street near Mulberry, there were enrolled 95 boys and 50 girls. In two weeks time this increased to 126 boys and 129 girls.

There were two teachers engaged, James Anderson being employed as teacher of the male department, at a salary of $65 a month; and Miss Annie N. Smith, in charge of the girls, her salary being $30 per month. In 1839 the primary school was opened with Miss Nancy Cummings in charge.

A frame addition was built in 1875, with an intermediate school being opened there in September of 1875. The high school, located at Wood and Mulberry was erected in 1894.

With continued growth in the population of the town and consequently the school population, additional buildings for school purposes were built, throughout the borough, with the five buildings now housing 1,973 pupils.

Miss Anita Cregar, a student at West Chester College, spent the Easter holidays at her home here.

The Misses Alice and Ann Bacon, Philadelphia, were recent dinner guests of Miss Anita Cregar.

FIVE PWA PROJECTS ARE NEARING COMPLETION

Total Cost of Seven Projects in Bucks County is Given As $507,000

TWO ARE COMPLETED

The five incomplete projects in Bucks County which were aided by outright grants from the FEA and PWA are expected to be completed by early Summer. Two other projects have already been finished. These include the addition to the Bristol high school and the Richboro high school.

The total cost of the seven projects amounts to $507,000, as was reported by G. Douglas Andrews, associate regional director, Region No. 1, Harrisburg.

The projects and their estimated costs are:

Pennsbury, four miles from Tullytown. The restoration of William Penn's Manor is about completed, and will cost $218,000, and is being built by the General State Authority for the Pennsylvania State Historical Commission. This project is of intense historical value, being a complete reproduction of the buildings in existence at the time when William Penn was Proprietary Governor of Pennsylvania.

Bristol—Addition and alteration to High School $50,000

Richboro—School addition 30,000

Doylestown—Sewerage disposal plant 80,000

New Hope—High School addition 35,000

Trumbauersville—Waterworks and pumping stations 45,000

Quakertown—Municipal building 50,000

Michael C. Madera and C. W. Homer are the resident engineer inspectors in charge, assisted by Daniel J. Gercke and J. A. Kilkenny.

Construction of these projects was made possible by a Public Works Administration outright grant of 45 percent of the total cost, the remainder of the cost being met locally, with the exception of the William Penn Memorial which is financed by the General State Authority and in part by P. W. A.

It is estimated that 222,000 man hours will be locally employed on the several construction sites and for each of these wage earners two and a half other family heads have a livelihood in the forests, mines, factories and other agencies producing and supplying the building materials used.

Barn on Cemetery Tract Near Trevoise Destroyed

An unused barn on the property of the Evergreen Memorial Park Cemetery was totally destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The loss is estimated at about $2,000.

The barn was stone stable high with a frame structure above. It measured about 60 by 90 feet and it is said that it was to be razed within the next few months.

Five fire companies with nine pieces of apparatus responded to the alarm. Companies from Trevoise and Trevoise Heights, Southampton, Langhorne and Richboro were at the scene but did not go into service, other than to prevent the spread of the flames. There were no building nearby but firemen watched to see that the grass fields were not ignited and in this way carry the flames to other structures.

The barn was along Trevoise Road, west of Bristol Road, Bensalem Township.

URGES BUCKS CO. ASSOCIATION TO AVOID ANTAGONISM

H. E. Paxson, Jr., Advises Enlistment of Co-operative Spirit of Groups

PITKIN ALSO SPEAKS

Resolution Denouncing German-American Bund Introduced; No Action Yet

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 15.—Pointing out that the only way for the Bucks County Association to succeed is to enlist the co-operative spirit of the county commissioners and the State Highway Department, and keep away from antagonisms, H. E. Paxson, Jr., Buckingham, at a meeting of the Association in the court house last evening, was heartily backed by the president, Walter S. Bishop.

Two hundred gathered for the session, with the first concrete plans for advancement of the county under guidance of the association being presented. The general sentiment of the assemblage to Mr. Paxson's suggestion, and Mr. Bishop's seconding, was voiced in prolonged applause of those who do not favor the antagonistic attitude. Many members of the association have disapproved such for some time, but it was strongly voiced for the first time last evening.

Mr. Paxson dwelt for a time on the importance of collecting personal property taxes, and gave figures for various years in the county. He also pointed out the harm to the county

MUSICAL PROPAGANDA

It remains for Senator Vandenberg to go beyond much that has lately been thought and said about neutrality, and put a finger on a very cause of war—one wholly neglected in the debate until now. The Senator facetiously suggests outlawing the brass band.

He cites a tendency in himself to waver on neutrality whenever a band bursts into martial strains in his hearing, and his weakness is probably shared by most of mankind. Since the day at history's dawn when man found he could produce stirring sounds by blowing through tubes or beating on a tightened hide, his leaders have deliberately fanned the war-like spirit in him with these devices. More potent than sly propaganda are the overt drum and cornet, the tuba and fife. The late John Philip Sousa has aroused the martial impulse in more people than all the orators.

The Senator seems to have something, but how to go about its suppression is something else. There is nothing in the fundamental law against the brass band as such, save as Congress can legislate against the inciting of those emotions which the brass band so readily inspires in men. Perhaps we should label bands performing in public for what they are, as the law requires that any dangerous drug be identified. There is an analogy here, for it is one of the most powerful stimulants that a first-class band provides. How many volunteers in wars of the past would have to confess now that it was not the printed or spoken word, or dangers, real or fancied to their homelands, that drew them to the colors, but the strains of the "Marseillaise," or "Land of Hope and Glory" or "Stars and Stripes Forever."

MY LADY'S FOOT

One wonders what the foot specialist must think of modern shoes for ladies. Have we mentioned hats recently? We take back all criticism. A hat, after all, is an adornment (?) which cannot actually injure the wearer. Shoes are something else again. They are a necessity which, if not properly fitted, can do things to the feet. Doctors today demand that as soon as a child can walk he should be fitted to a sensible pair of shoes.

But the ladies have discarded sensible shoes entirely, this spring for something almost as decorative as the bound feet of the Chinese women before their emancipation. Double soles, inverted pegs for heels, indescribable swartings, and gadgets make up the spring collections. The stylists have gone back to the days of Benjamin Bunny and the clogs which so mystified Mr. McGregor, back to the wooden shoes of the Dutch, back, we suspect, to some ancient torments of the Middle Ages for the 1939 lady's shoe.

They are attractive, but are they comfortable? Can the most accomplished dancer walk gracefully on a pair of rolled-up stiffs held on by a foot or two of pastel silk? And shall she pay $65 for these things? Perish the thought! Better dig up the sidewalk, the asphalt, the streets, the hardwood floors and all the modern paraphernalia for making walking easy. Let the ladies get off their stiffs and come back to earth. Let us occasionally see a foot which would not have made Venus faint or old Vulcan, crippled as he was, turn away in horror. Ladies, these are your feet you are maltreating, and never so long as you live will you be given another pair.

consideration and respect for others' rights. Plain honesty in thought, word and act is the recognized ideal in all hands of American youth gathered in the democracy of goodfellowship at the training camps.

During the camp of 1938, trainees were privileged to compete for about thirty scholarships in the various colleges and schools located in the Third Corps Area.

This is an opportunity for a higher education for those who are awarded a scholarship. A high school education and a high scholastic standing in his class is necessary to compete. The number of scholarships to be awarded in 1938 is not known at this time. Information pertaining to scholarships will be furnished successful applicants for the CMTC prior to the opening of the 1938 Camps, without any correspondence on their part.

Wholesome and elevating Recreation has always occupied a most important part in the object of these Training Camps. It really supplies one of the most valuable educational and instructional features in the whole program.

Motion pictures, theatricals, lectures by prominent people, dances supervised by Hostesses, and entertainments are provided in the evenings. Large theatres, comfortable Service Clubs with reading rooms and libraries containing thousands of volumes of the best literature are available for use of the CMTC in all camps.

Excellent facilities for bathing and swimming are available at each camp. Training programs include instruction in swimming and life saving. Guards are in attendance at all times. Week-end excursions to nearby cities and to points of historic interest near the Camps will be provided for at small individual expense or those desiring to avail themselves of the opportunity.

Welfare societies provide free stationery for writing home. This is always encouraged and a complaint from a parent that a son does not write home constitutes a "demerit" on his "good conduct record."

The best Army Surgeons, Dentists, Trained Nurses, and up-to-date hospital facilities are available at these camps. The health of these young men is of first consideration to all concerned all the time. Camp Sick Reports go direct to the Commanding General. These health precautions account for the rigid requirement that every applicant be vaccinated against smallpox and take the typhoid prophylaxis.

No one enrolls in camp without it. Not one single case of smallpox or typhoid fever has ever occurred in one of these camps. Serious sickness is practically eliminated. The claim or assumption that the average school boy has to work during all his summer vacation is too often a mistaken idea and harmful practice, something is due to youth in its formative period. The fact that a boy did no work in July, 1939, will mean nothing to him in after years, as compared with the material benefit gained and the helpful association formed during that memorable month in camp.

Kindly, considerate, and friendly—but firm, just and impartial. The "honor system" is largely depended upon for control and administration—along the lines of the best regulated schools and colleges. It has proven uniformly successful in previous Camps, with cheerful co-operation pervading the whole CMTC Corps.

A religious atmosphere pervades these Camps. Divine worship is earnestly encouraged. Mockers of Religion are not wanted. Selected Chaplains of representative denominations are in attendance—Protestant, Catholic and Jewish. These are charged with the Presentation of Current Events Heard by Club Women

"I'm certain we could go through another war and still have to solve the problems we face today. The loss of millions of lives won't solve those problems."

This was the opinion expressed by Richard H. McFeeley, of the George School faculty, Newtown, when he spoke to the Travel Club members for the third time this season on current events.

This statement followed a tracing of developments of the past several months in Europe and Asia, and the subsequent attitude of the United States on world affairs, the hour's consideration of events proving exceptionally interesting to the club women.

Then Mr. Feeley added: "Our problem is not over there so much as it is here at home. We have in our country many adolescents who know not which way to turn. Thousands who have graduated since 1932 have never held jobs. There is no place for them and they realize it. They need a philosophy of life. They need something to hold onto so they won't be too fertile soil for the undesirable type of leaders we find in the world today."

"We must work and pray to the end that we can solve these problems on some other basis than force."

At the outset of his discourse, after his introduction by Mrs. Emil Metzger, Mr. McFeeley dwelt for a few minutes on the increasing international tension, with the "situation being such that sudden change in conditions might prove the final straw that will break the camel's back." He mentioned the 1,200,000 men under arms in Italy, and the more than a million under arms in Poland, with Russia constantly alert on two frontiers. "The outlook is not bright. Apparently the world is headed for a catastrophe which day by day it proves less possible to prevent." The spread of anti-Jewish feeling throughout the world came in for a share of the talk.

In presenting the two major questions facing America today he listed them thus: 1. What can be done to prevent war? 2. How can we adjust our economic problems so that America can take an intelligent leadership in the problems of the world?

"For the past two weeks in China and Japan things have somewhat subsided. It is in Europe where the red flag should now be raised."

"If we will but turn our thoughts to the World War we will remember that the idea of the Allies seemed to be to crush Germany. But look at what Germany has done in the past four years. She has become a great power with vast resources behind her. She had added the Saar basin, absorbed Austria, and the Sudetenland, absorbed Memel and Czechoslovakia. All of these with their vast industries and rich deposits."

The idea prevalent among many that if Hitler were eliminated from the scene conditions could better themselves was derided by the speaker who pointed out that "He and others who could take his place arose out of bad world conditions which still exist today. . . And one of the predominant questions is where will he go next, and when Germany is a source of danger to the world. A goal has been set up in Germany by Hitler and all the German people are working toward that goal. What is our goal in this country? This is a challenge we can no longer afford to avoid," he added in driving home the fact that the people need some ideal to work for, and that if that ideal is not of high calibre the world suffers.

The club women were told that "We must not count very much on the economic collapse of either Germany or Japan. . . And if war does come now England will be more formidable than she would have been last September, as those who wanted her to try all means to avoid war will be better satisfied that such means have been tried; and those who wanted war last Fall will surely fall in line."

Mussolini's activities with absorption of Albania by Italy was considered, "but that means nothing as Albania was practically in Mussolini's pocket," was the comment. That Franco must choose his friends now was another consideration. "Franco needs the capital of France and England, but he owes Germany and Italy. But really he has no choice in the end, for he must accede to Mussolini's demands."

As far as the United States is concerned Mr. McFeeley asked "What course can we take? The question just now is if the stand of Roosevelt on the war question will point more quickly to peace."

Election of officers was in order at yesterday's meeting, and Mrs. William DuHamel was named as club president, succeeding Mrs. Earl H. Tomb. The newly-elected vice-president is Mrs. E. Linton Martin; recording secretary, Mrs. Russell DeLong; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John A. Moyer; treasurer, Mrs. Horace H. Burton. These members were named for a two year term.

The president, Mrs. Tomb, announced a flower show which the Travel Club Gardeners will enter in a Jenkintown store on April 21st and 22nd; and made known the date of the annual play, April 28th. She also listed as delegates to the Spring meeting of the Bucks County Federation in New Hope on the afternoon and evening of April 28th, Mrs. DuHamel and Mrs. DeLong. The secretary, Mrs. Harry T. Neher, told of the five-county conference of the League of Women Voters to be held in Newtown on the 20th of this month.

The card party scheduled for May 15th was told of by Mrs. Walter Pitzonka; and Mrs. Franklin Wallin asked members to remember the Nursery School this Spring in providing goods for the proposed rummage sale. A trip to the New York World's Fair on May 9th elicited much interest, the club members and friends being privileged to accompany the Philadelphia Federation of Women's Clubs on this journey by train.

Dr. J. Fred Wagner appeared before the members yesterday, and explained the organization of the Community Center, and invited the club members to visit the Center at any time. He welcomed advice and aid, expressed the hope that the Center will advance in every way possible with the backing of residents of the community who have interest of the young people at heart.

ON THE SCREENS

RITZ

The long-awaited Darryl F. Zanuck production, "Jesse James," 20th Century-Fox Technicolor epic which was two years in the making, received a wildly enthusiastic welcome from audiences at the Ritz Theatre yesterday when the spectacular drama of the most colorful outlaw that ever lived thundered across the screen, utilizing all the magic of Technicolor to tell the epic story of a lawless era.

Although Hollywood has frequently spent as much as two years in producing a movie, never before have the fruits of their labor been so apparent as they are in "Jesse James." It is undoubtedly Darryl F. Zanuck's greatest production, and that tribute, paid to the man who gave us "In Old Chicago" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band," is considerable praise indeed!

BRISTOL

"One-third of a nation . . ." the bold drama of the New York slums, which as a play rocked Broadway during its long run a year ago, has been made into a motion picture destined to rank as one of the most important productions of the year. With Sylvia Sidney and Leif Erikson heading a cast of players hand-picked from the stage and screen, the film opens Sunday at the Bristol Theatre.

"The Mysterious Miss X" is the feature film coming to the Bristol Theatre today. Mary Hart is co-starred with Michael Whalen in the film.

GRAND

Teamed together for the first time, Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., are seen as three comrade sergeants whose adventures form the basis of the stirring screen version of the famous ballad by Rudyard Kipling, "Gunga Din," at the Grand Theatre, Sunday and Monday.

"The Saint Strikes Back" will open today at the Grand.
